HISTORICAL.

Cleanings Here, There and Everywhere, But Mostly in Oxford County

BY LEONARD B. CHAPMAN.

"B HILL—ITS TAVERN." (Continued from May 15.)

In the article appearing in the Citizen, May 15, 1913, (two weeks ago) under the caption of "Historical," the name of John I. Briggs, Esq., should have appeared in the place of John I. Upton. Upton is the name of the town in which Mr. Briggs lived in 1845 as an inn keeper or was given this name when the plantation was incorporated in 1860. In 1850 it had a population of 174; 1860, 219; 1890, 232.

In 1860 John I. Briggs appears as a farmer, at which time there were in the town 37 horses; 71 milch cows; 64 oxen and 403 sheep; and they raised 554 bushels wheat, 3,000 bushels of oats; 9,988 bushels potatoes; 658 tons of hay; 3,000 pounds of butter and 845 pounds of wool.

Bethel had in 1850 a population of 2253; in 1860, 2,328. She had in the last annual year 419 horses; 727 milch cows; 378 working oxen; 2,082 sheep; of wheat raised that year 2,075 bushels; corn 7,524, oats 17,583 bushels; wool 5,522 pounds; potatoes 72,075 bushels; butter 42,300 pounds; hay 4,681 tons.

Bethel raised more horses in 1890 than any other town in Oxford county; Paris coming in second with 419, Paris had the lead on cows with 1,210; Bethel coming in as a second with 727; working oxen Bethel took the sixth place with 375; Paris at the head, with 650.

Bethel had according to the last Town Report—horses 595; oxen twenty-eight; cows 824; sheep 639.

Norway had 410 horses; cows 721; oxen 415; sheep 639.

In regard to the matter of Town Annual Reports Norway occupies a front seat in the annual assemblage with hands up—a creditable document in every respect in her Town Report.

The part of the story told by the Ex-Editor in 1913 and repeated in the Citizen two weeks ago relative to "uuckera" (fish) in the Magalloway region of Oxford county sixty years ago is somewhat beyond credence at this time. And here is another fish story, good enough to repeat, clipped from the Portland Daily Eastern Argus of Sept. 23, 1914. I guess the reflections cast are not ill-natured political or otherwise as follows:

"EELS BY THE CART LOAD. (Oxford, Sept. 22. 'Hello there,' shouted one of the factory overers, 'come down here and see these eels.' It was a sight indeed. The whole bed of the river for several rods was entirely covered with the chopped up pieces of eels which had come through the water-wheel. In some places they were piled up in heaps. There were hundreds of them, some of enormous size. They had begun to decay, and from the rotting heaps rose an 'aromatic' and fish-like smell like that which came from the city of Augusta, after the State election. 'Where did they come from,' replied the overer. 'From the pond. The main bottom of Thompson's pond is alive with eels. They could be caught in almost unlimited quantities if any one cared to fish for them. Several years ago John Foley and others started to set a lot of eel pots and get rich shipping live eels to the Boston market. But for some reason they failed to connect—guess they couldn't raise capital enough to buy a fish hook to start with. Just as soon as we begin to work nights the wheel begins to chop up eels. They don't stir round much in the daytime; but towards dusk they begin to get lively. A light will attract them a long distance in the night, as every boy who has ever bobbed for eels is well aware. The hundreds of bright lamps in the factory, shining off over the pond, call them down into the outlet. They hear the wheel churning and splashing and go down the flume to investigate. They never come back. That deadly wheel swallows their earnings as nothing else can do.'"

The term, "aromatic fish-like smell" coming from Augusta after a Republican State election is not a new one. It is readily understood from a political point of view.

WEDDING AT CANTON. A NEW INDUSTRY FOR RUMFORD.

OLIVER—REDDEN.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Oliver of Canton, Tuesday, May 20, their daughter, Alice Mae Oliver was united in marriage to Benjamin Harrison Redden of Mattapan, Mass. The ceremony was performed at high noon by Rev. D. H. Jones of Mexico Baptist church, the double ring service being used. The wedding march by Lohengrin was played by Earl Wynman of Rumford. The bride was given away by her father, Frank M. Oliver and the bridegroom was accompanied by his father, Mr. Levi Redden of Boston. Little Miss Angie Oldham, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. The bride was exquisitely gowned in white silk with pearl trimmings and carried white pinks.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a gold bracelet and the bride's gift to the flower girl was a gold chain and locket.

The bride's traveling gown was of Copenhagen blue with hat to match. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Oliver served a beautiful wedding dinner. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Levi Redden of Boston, Mrs. Mary J. Oldham, Mrs. Emerson Oldham and Mrs. J. C. Oldham of Peru and Mrs. William Lacey and family of Rumford.

The parlors where the ceremony took place was beautifully decorated in pink and white, and the dining room in green and white. Mr. and Mrs. Redden were the recipients of many valuable and useful gifts, including china, silver, linen, hand-painted china, and money.

The bride is one of Canton's highly esteemed and talented young ladies, and has a host of friends in this and other towns, where she has been a most successful music teacher for several years. Mrs. Redden acquired her education in the Canton schools and at Hebron Academy, after which she spent a year in Boston, studying music under a competent instructor. She is a lady of rare musical ability as well as other attainments.

The bridegroom is a resident of Mattapan, Mass., and is also an able musician, being a vocal soloist of high standing. He is at the present time engaged as soloist at Baptist Evangelistic meetings throughout the country. He is a graduate of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Ill. Both Mr. and Mrs. Redden are members of the Baptist church. The happy couple left on the afternoon train amid a shower of rice, confetti and congratulations for a bridal trip to Boston, New York, Chicago and St. Louis.

THAT COMMENCEMENT CONCERT.

Have you secured your tickets yet? If not, read here what the press says of the talent that will appear in Olean Hall, Thursday evening, June 5, and then haste to Mr. Pashard's and secure your seats before all the best are sold.

From Lewiston Journal, May 6th: "Miss Noyes' solo gave especial pleasure. She has a charming voice and her enunciation is perfect. She sang as an encore, 'The Nightingale Has a Love of Gold.'"

"Mr. Fred Clough's 'Good Night Little Girl, Good Night,' was something long to be remembered. He was obliged to respond to repeated 'encores.'"

This is what the late Prof. Henry Chapman says of Miss Barker: "It was my pleasure to hear Miss Sylvia Barker recite a dramatic version, made by herself, of 'Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm,' last year. Her dramatic power, her intelligent sympathy with the story, her adorable elocution, and her stage presence, all impressed me with her gifts as a reader. I think she will give the keenest satisfaction to any audience that has the good fortune to listen to her."

The late Henry Leland Chapman, Mr. Henderson, the violin soloist, is one of the most promising young violinists of Boston, and is meeting with great success in his solo work in that city.

A small boy handed in the following on an examination paper in United States History: "General Bradstreet was killed in the Revolutionary war. He had three horses shot under him, and a fourth went through his clothes."—Every body.

THE CITIZEN WANTS COLUMN, IT WILL PAY YOU TO.

Rumford is rejoicing over the fact that a new industry is soon to be established in the town which will be of much advantage to the town in all ways. The company is already formed and has taken the name of the Maine Coated Paper Co. Its object is to make coated paper such as is used for magazines and the high class periodicals. The paper will be taken from the Oxford Mill and the coating put on. The mill is to cover an area of 60,000 square feet and will be built on the southeast side of the Oxford Paper Mill's finishing room and is to be 350 feet long.

There will be six return coating machines with a capacity of from eighteen to twenty-five tons of paper in twenty-four hours. H. S. Coke from Kalamazoo, Mich., is to be the general manager. He has been for the past twenty years engaged in business of this kind and is a competent person.

The capital stock of the company is $200,000. The president is Chas. H. Drummond; clerk, Wadleigh B. Drummond; treasurer, Josiah H. Drummond; directors, Fred V. Matthews, Clark D. Chapman, W. B. Drummond, C. M. Drummond and J. H. Drummond.

The construction of the building will commence as soon as the plans are completed and it is expected to take about six months for the erection of the plant. It is the plan of the company now to employ around two hundred operatives at the start and to increase the mill if successful until a thousand operatives are employed.

PATTANGALL ON PUBLIC UTILITIES.

Ex-Att'y General Gives His Reasons for Favoring Referendum.

One of the most interesting communications in the newspapers of Monday was from ex-Attorney General Pattangall to the Waterville Sentinel on the Public Utilities bill giving reasons why in his judgment there should be a referendum. The latter is the first real analysis of the bill given out by any lawyer and deserves wide reading.

The letter follows: To the Editor of the Waterville Sentinel: Petitions are being circulated to secure a referendum on the bill passed by the present legislature creating a public utility commission. There have been several arguments offered in favor of such a referendum and in favor of rejecting this measure when it comes before people for final discussion, some of which seem to be entitled to weight.

First. The expense which will necessarily be incurred by reason of the immigration of such a commission has been urged. It is stated that this will exceed $100,000 annually. Of course no one can tell just what it would cost as that would depend very largely upon the number and extent of the hearings held before the commission, but judging by the experience of other states the figures given are none too large, especially when it is noted that by the provisions of the pending bill the cost of all hearings including fees of witnesses called by all of the interested parties, is to be borne by the State.

Second. The fact that the commission is made up entirely of lawyers is objected to and the suggestion is made that a board composed of one lawyer and two practical experienced men of affairs would be a better balanced tribunal before which to try out the complicated questions of fact which will necessarily arise in cases coming before the commission.

Third. It is said that this law which was popularly supposed to interpose a barrier between monopoly and the public is so drawn that it fosters monopoly and that to such an extent as to endanger the future development of our natural resources.

So far as the first objection is concerned it goes without saying that if the people of Maine desire to establish a new court which is what such a commission really amounts to, which court is to try out questions which heretofore have largely been settled by private business arrangement, the people of Maine must expect to pay some thing for their newly acquired privilege. The question is not so much what amount they shall pay as it is what they will get for their money.

If abuses exist in Maine in regard to rates charged or services rendered by public utilities which cannot be remedied without this law and which abuses are extensive enough to warrant the expenditure of $100,000 annually for any other amount to correct them, then the first argument fails. But if such abuses either do not exist or exist only in a minor degree, or if they can be corrected without this law or if this law is so written that it is extremely unlikely that they will be corrected under it, the expense argument is sound.

I believe that a careful study of the matter will satisfy anybody that any abuse of privileges indulged in by any public utility which can possibly be corrected under existing law through the regular channels of our courts, and further that the chance of any abuse of privilege on the part of a public utility being corrected by action of proposed commission, working under the proposed law, is so remote as to be negligible. In short, that whatever the State spends in creating and maintaining the new system of adjudicating disputes between public utilities and their patrons will be largely, if not quite

As to the second argument, I am partial enough to lawyers to think that a jury made up entirely of lawyers might be a very good jury indeed. But I am also sensible of the fact that juries are not usually so made up. Whether it is the part of wisdom to submit important questions of fact to such a jury, with no right of appeal

PACKAGES C. O. D. BY PARCEL POST.

Post-Office Order for This Service Becomes Effective on July First.

An order of the Postmaster General amending the parcel post regulations of the United States makes possible the collection on delivery of payment for goods sent by parcel post. The provisions of the new order, which is to take effect July 1, 1913, are as follows: The sender of a valuable parcel on which the postage is fully prepaid may have the price of the article and the charges thereon collected from the addressee on payment of a fee of ten cents in parcel post stamps annexed, provided the amount to be collected does not exceed $100. Such a parcel will be insured against loss, without additional charge, in an amount equivalent to its actual value, but not to exceed $50.

The sender of a collection delivery (C. O. D.) parcel will be given a receipt showing the office and date of mailing, the number of the parcel and the amount due him.

A C. O. D. parcel will be accepted for mailing only at a money-order office and when addressed to a money-order office. Money-order offices are designated in the Parcel Post Guide by an asterisk or a dagger. The postmaster at the mailing office will be held responsible for the postage required for the return of a parcel addressed to a non-money-order office.

If a C. O. D. parcel is received at a non-money-order office, the postmaster will notify the office of mailing of the amount of postage required for its return. The postmaster at the office of mailing will ascertain from the sender whether he desires the parcel returned or delivered without collection of the charges. If the sender notifies him, in writing, that the parcel may be delivered without collecting the charges, he will attach the order to the office coupon and notify the postmaster at the office of address to that effect. If no reply is received from the mailing office, the parcel will be treated as provided in sections 49, 50 and 52.

The C. O. D. tag must show the amount due the sender, the money-order fee necessary to make the remittance, and the total amount to be collected. It should be securely attached to the parcel, which should be numbered to correspond with the tag, stamped C. O. D., and the charges to be collected plainly written thereon.

The parcel will be treated as ordinary mail until it reaches the office of address, where, on payment of all charges, it will be delivered to the addressee, or, unless otherwise directed by the addressee, to the person, firm or corporation in whose care it is addressed, or to any responsible person to whom the addressee's ordinary mail is customarily delivered. A receipt for the parcel must be obtained on the tag attached thereto.

A receipt signed by a person other than the addressee must show the name of the addressee as well as that of the person signing it. A signature made by mark (x) must be attested by a reputable witness.

When a C. O. D. parcel is received without the tag attached, the charges shown on the parcel must be collected and the prescribed receipt obtained from the addressee.

An employee must receipt for the total number of parcels given him for delivery. This receipt will be surrendered to him either on the return of the parcel or the receipted tags and the total amount to be collected.

The receipted tag will be considered as the addressee's application for a money-order for the amount due the sender. A money-order will then be issued, stamped C. O. D., and mailed to the sender in a penalty envelope by the postmaster, who will enter on the tag the number of the money order, the amount and date of issue, and file it with other money-order applications. No return receipt will be furnished the sender, as the money-order serves that purpose.

The addressee will not be permitted to examine the contents of a C. O. D. parcel until it has been receipted for and all charges paid. A parcel may be refused when it is tendered for delivery, but after delivery has been effected it cannot be returned on account of dissatisfaction with the contents of the parcel or the amount collected.

A parcel may be forwarded in accordance with section 48 without the

GRASS SEED

Everybody who intends to use grass seed this year should take advantage of the extremely low prices I am quoting this season. Remember the price you had to pay last year and buy while it is low. The market is advancing on clovers and this will have a tendency to bring timothy and the others up.

Besides all kinds of grass seeds you will find a nice assortment of all kinds of Peas, Beans, Corn and the small garden seeds in bulk at

As it was, a number of cars were met them at the station and took them for a short walk up through the village.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Thursday afternoon the O. A. U. of V. property, owned by the O. A. U. of V. and held under a security loan, was sold to John W. Duff of Lewiston, Maine. The price paid for the property, which includes not only the lot, but the Forest Hill Hotel and the land on which it stands at the corner of O. A. U. street and Grand avenue, was $25,000. Mr. Duff plans to make improvements both to the lot and hotel.

The plan for a memorial bridge across the Niagara River to commemorate the 100 years of peace has received favorable consideration from the American and Canadian delegates. It is a proposition that is of the greatest interest to both sides and to the entire Niagara frontier. When nations shake hands and build highways to facilitate communication across their frontiers, that is practical evidence of the spirit of peace and friendship and a guarantee of its permanence. Such a bridge would stand for centuries as an example to the world.

A total of $19,624 was appropriated by the New Hampshire Legislature which took final action on Tuesday. Of this total $10,000 is provided by bond issues for highway and $9,624 by bond issues for canal projects. The highway bill provides for the construction of 100 miles of new highways and the repair of 100 miles of old highways. The canal bill provides for the construction of 100 miles of new canals and the repair of 100 miles of old canals.

Members of the cabinet who are now housed in Washington seem to be in a hurry to get out. This is their last year for rent. This includes the Vice President and indicates a disposition to set up simple standards in the cabinet. It is to live within the limits of $10,000 represented by the salary, according to a correspondent. President Wilson emphasized at the beginning of the administration his desire for social simplicity, although this has not resulted in social differences. There are no wealthy men in the cabinet, unless Postmaster General Burleson, he considered. While some cabinet officers have lived on the salary even when it was only $8,000 a year, the rule has been a much larger expenditure. A comfortable, well-furnished house can be rented for $2,000 in Washington, but it will not be large or especially adapted for entertaining. The rental of a house suited for entertaining and located in Sixteenth street, Massachusetts or Rhode Island avenue or other fashionable thoroughfares, will range from $4,000 to $5,000 a year.

The cabinet house on clothing in Boston must be abolished within six months by the garment manufacturers' contractors, according to a notice received on the manufacturers May 20 by the Boston United Garment Workers' union. It was stated that the 5300 members of the union stand behind this notice. Six months was given the contractors within which to do away with this class of work, in order to give those engaged in home labor opportunity to seek other means of livelihood.

After a week's campaign to raise $2,000,000 to make Dayton, Ohio, safe against future floods, the successful culmination of the work was greeted on the night of May 20 with wild demonstrations of rejoicing. Many instances are known of workmen mortgaging their homes in order to contribute to the fund. The climax of the day came at a mass meeting on the night of May 25th when it was announced that the National Cash Register Company which had previously contributed $250,000, would double its gift and make the fund secure. An engineer and a corps of assistants have been hired to develop the plans for flood prevention and active work will be begun at once.

THE MOTOR CAR—ITS CHARM, USES AND BENEFITS.

By R. E. Old, President, Reo Motor Car Company.

There is no industry in a given length of time that has done so much for the education, social uplift, health, business and general welfare of the civilized world as has the automobile and when it is considered that the motor car industry is hardly past its swaddling clothes period no one today can accurately forecast what untold blessings the future has in store for humanity through the motor vehicle.

Wearied of his daily grind the man at the desk, lathe, counter, forge or plow can find nothing more charming, healthful, invigorating and uplifting than to shift these treadmill scenes to those obtained from a drive in a safe, reliable and comfortable motor car over areas of waving plenty, through forests where the sunlight filters through the leaves and makes the shadows of the fragrant woods brighten into alternating smiles. Then, too, think of the invigorating charm of motoring on an ideal winter day with the fields and forests aglow with new fallen snow. It is the greatest generator of bounding vigor, intense initiative and joyous exuberance for doing things which is but another way of saying that it is a great antidote against physical and mental anemia and moral perversity.

Whether a man motors at home or abroad the educational and other advantages are unexcelled because every new object, scene or idea absorbed, is presented in its concrete form. Impressions so received are indelible because natural and pleasing to the mind and heart when in a most receptive and plastic mood. While motoring is a happy and wholesome change and diversion from the monotony of the daily grind it yet works a wonderful transformation and reformation in our views of life in their material, mental, moral or social. Neither the ocean nor the horse, the boat, the railroad, nor the trolley has yet been able to follow the hidden charms of the valley and the mountain which alone the motor car has revealed.

According to the latest available statistics on October 1, 1912 there were registered in the various states a total of 890,734 pleasure motor vehicles. After deducting 15 per cent. from this total registration for non-paying and overlapping registrations it is safe to say that on January 1, 1913 there are approximately 812,000 pleasure motor cars in use, representing, at least, a first value of $1,000,000,000. This vast amount of money has gone into the pay envelopes of at least 100,000 American workmen and to 280 American manufacturers of pleasure cars and to the thousands of American dealers and salesmen, the financial and industrial advantages of which are incalculable. Fully 1,000,000 persons including their wives, children and dependents, directly or indirectly, are today benefited by this stupendous showing. And when we add the vast numbers who are profitably employed and benefited by the motor truck division of the automobile industry, and those who are engaged in the allied industries of motor car accessories, tires and parts, the benefits derived therefrom defy the wildest imagination. Show me an industry that has brought prosperity, health, happiness and sunshine to so many souls in this land in scarcely more than a decade.

The motor car has encouraged outdoor life, domestic travel and sight-seeing in America which in turn have promoted the building of thousands of respectable and popular summer resorts and wayside inns throughout our country.

With the advent of new hotels comes a new and strenuous demand for new roads. Today farmers and merchants everywhere are promoting the good roads movement as never before, the far-reaching benefits of which are incalculable. The motor car is the key that opened the door to our broad and splendid highways of today and it is the key that shall open a national highway between the Great Lakes and the Gulf and it is the key that shall open a national thoroughfare from Coast to Coast.

The motor vehicle has stimulated scientific research, invention and engineering skill and advanced the dial of progress almost a century. It has enabled thousands of physicians to bring their medical aid and surgical skill to their patients in one-fourth the time required formerly and thus daily saving the lives of hundreds. The physicians' motor horn is, therefore, to thousands a symbol of mercy while its toot is a token of rescue.

The automobile unquestionably saves time to the traveling salesman, to the business man, to the contractor, the farmer, the society and business woman and to the busy traveling public. The time thus saved may be employed for either more business or for the cultivation of the social and domestic pleasures and graces, the grand result of which figures largely in the general diffusion of our national prosperity, strength, enlightenment, happiness and material welfare.

Long live the motor car and the manifold blessings which it shall ever bestow upon its devotees, its friends and to the public at large.

THEIR LIMITATIONS.

A teacher asked her pupils to draw a picture of that which they wished to be when they grew up. The pupils went to work, some drawing pictures of soldiers, sailors, policemen, and ladies, etc.

"They all handed in the results of their work, except one little girl, who sat quietly, her pen in front of her and her pencil in her hand."

"Well, Sarah, don't you know what you want to be when you grow up?" asked teacher.

"Yes, I know," answered Sarah, with a worried look, "but I don't know how to draw it."

"What is it you want that you can't draw?"

"I want to be married."—Harper's Bazar.

RUMFORD.

Memorial Sunday was observed in the churches Sunday and the Sons of Veterans and the Grand Army attended church in a body at the Baptist church in Mexico, and listened to an excellent sermon by Rev. Herbert Jones.

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held on Thursday evening at the Business Men's Club rooms and P. B. McCarthy, Sup't. of the International Mill presented an appeal which he had written and was signed by representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, setting forth the danger to the paper industry in this town if free paper was allowed by the tariff revision, and making a strong appeal to the senator from this district and to the president of the United States to protect the paper industry which means so much to the people of the State of Maine.

Peter Morrell's restaurant is closed by order of the county attorney. Mr. Morrell has been up for selling liquor several times and has been convicted, therefore the county attorney, Mr. Dyar, notified E. A. Allen, the owner of the building, that unless Morrell was turned out an injunction would be placed on the building.

Memorial Day will be observed at Rumford Center at 2:30 o'clock with Chas. P. Whitman of So. Paris as the orator of the day. In the evening Mr. Whitman will speak at Mexico. The school children will have a short exercise on the bridge at Morse's Mill in the morning under the auspices of Geo. D. Bisbee Camp of Sons of Veterans and Osgood Eaton Relief Corps.

The members of the Senior Class held a supper in the vestry of the Baptist church on Wednesday evening which was well patronized and quite a sum realized for the graduating class.

Arthur Kendall of Lewiston was in town Monday to meet with the High School orchestra which is to play for commencement. Mr. Kendall was formerly a member of this class but is now employed in the F. E. Tainter music store in Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bisbee are spending the week at their camp on the Rangely Lakes.

The grocery clerks will hold a ball at Howard Opera House on Friday evening, May 30.

Miss May Hassett and Miss Nellie Sanders attended a recital at St. Joseph's Academy in Deering last week at which Miss Katherine Hassett played.

Mrs. Janet T. Douglass of Walpole, Mass., was the guest of friends in town a few days last week.

A clairvoyant, calling himself Prof. F. A. Dean, was arrested at Hotel Rumford, Friday night by the officers, upon the request of City Marshal Taylor of Auburn. The man was charged with having obtained money under false pretenses in that city. It appears that he offered to return $3.11 to one of his patrons in Auburn if his readings were not correct, but when requested to pay the money by the client he refused absolutely and left the city. Dean was in the Auburn Municipal Court Tuesday where he was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail and at this time it was discovered that his name was not Dean at all, but LeFebvre.

Napoleon and Fata.

"Augereau once reproached Napoleon for not having died as a soldier should. 'What would you have?' answered the emperor. 'The bullets have spared me; fate has respected me; I respect fate. Besides, Asia has need of a man.'"

He always said, Providence was on his side, for those he had to overcome used always to attack him where he was strongest and never took advantage of the lucky chances that were in their favor." During the Egyptian campaign he was once asleep under the wall of an ancient building when a portion of it fell, without a single stone touching him. On getting up he found a stone in his hand. Examining it, he discovered a cameo of Augustus, of great beauty. "So it goes on. Everything that might injure him only brings happy and often unexpected consequences," adds Princess Louise of Prussia in "Forty-five Years of My Life."

Murders of French Writers.

Alexandre Dumas in his "Chevalier d'Ormont" made the excellent Epitaph declare in 1718 that his people "paints like Grouze" who was born seven years later. The same character adorns the galleries of the Palais Royal, which were not built till sixty-two years later.

Baltic makes "Cousin Pons" buy a charming fan, "a divine chef d'oeuvre painted by Watteau and ordered by Mme. de Pompadour," who was born in the year that the artist died.

Alphonse Daudet shows us in "Tartarin" 4,000 Arabs "smiling like lunatics till 100,000 white teeth glinted in the sun."

The Goncourts tell us in "Madame Gervais" that "what she lacked and was at a loss for was an absence of food to satisfy her appetite."

From Coppee we get "two twins, both of them eighteen years old."

Why the Deaf Are Grateful.

A pleasant contrast to the sad fate of Beethoven is furnished by Dr. Thirlwall, the radical bishop of St. David's, who wrote the history of Greece that held the field before the arrival of Grotius. In his old age he became stone deaf, but, so far from fretting, declared that the infirmity was really a blessing, because it relieved him from the futile conversation of bores. One day a friend, forgetting the bishop's deafness, greeted him with the usual remark about the weather. "Eh?" queried the bishop. "It is a fine day," belated the friend repeatedly into the prelate's ear. When Thirlwall finally grasped the meaning of the remark he quietly philosophized: "Dear me! How little a man loses by being deaf."—London Chronicle.

Good and Bad Furniture.

The line between good ornament and bad ornament is the line between beauty and ugliness.

The only good furniture is that which is both beautiful and useful.

All furniture that lacks either beauty or usefulness is bad furniture.

Furniture that is well constructed, of good shape and excellent finish is good furniture, no matter how elaborately it may be decorated.

Furniture of bad shape or bad finish is bad furniture, no matter how free from meretricious mounts and carvings.—Country Life in America.

A Dainty Comparison.

Among the clever stories related at the Beefsteak club in London is a nice one of a lord lawyer who was counsel in an action for libel brought by a provision merchant against a local newspaper. He said in his address to the jury: "My client, gentlemen, is a respectable man, and the reputation of a chef-magasin in the city of London is like the bloom on a peach. Touch it, and it is gone forever."

Merely Obliging.

Magistrate—You gave this young woman such a hit on the face that she can't see out of her eyes. What have you to say for yourself? Accused—Well, she often told me she didn't want to see me any more.—Magistrate's Blarney.

IT'S A MISTAKE.

Made By Many Rumford Falls Residents.

Many people in a misguided effort to get rid of kidney backache, rely on purgatives, liniments, and other makeshifts. The right treatment is kidney treatment and a remarkably recommended medicine is Doan's Kidney Pills. Rumford Falls is no exception.

The proof is at your very door. The following is an experience typical of the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Rumford Falls.

Mrs. E. C. Tibbitts, 672 Prospect Ave., Rumford Falls, Me., says: "I have been a sufferer from kidney trouble for several years, severe attacks coming on me every little while. My kidneys seemed inactive and I had severe pains in my back and sides. I had taken a number of different remedies but none did me any good until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Cote Pharmacy. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills, I am in much better health and my kidneys are normal. I recommend this remedy very highly."

PARCEL POST.

The parcel post, which went into operation at the beginning of the new year, is not only going to give a cheaper means of transportation for a great variety of small parcels which have hitherto been handled by express, but it is going to be a great convenience for all those living on rural routes. Increasing as the rates do from points in more distant zones, the retailer in the small town is given access to the rural lines running out of his town at a much less rate than the catalogue house in the distant city. And it is fair to assume, if the country merchant is alive and awake to his opportunity, the parcel post as inaugurated will be a help rather than a detriment to him. A great variety of parcels will be handled under the new regulations, and the business of the postal department is sure to increase enormously.

A BIG SUCKER.

It does beat all how a supposedly sensible granger who has worked hard and managed to lay up several thousand dollars will now and then get the notion in his head that he can beat a couple of professional sharpers in a poker or other skin game or on a deal in city real estate. We read of just such an instance the other day in which a farmer parted company with some $30,000 in cash and put a mortgage of some $3,000 on his farm. When the sharpers got through with him he was a wiser and sadder as well as a poorer man, and to conceal the humiliation of having been worked for such a sucker he bruised himself up some and gave his home people to understand that he had been set upon by footpads.

CANT SUPPLY THE DEMAND.

Notwithstanding the number of young men who are being turned out yearly by the agricultural colleges of the country well equipped to have a hand in supervising and having a hand in scientific farming, the supply does not begin to keep up with the demand. With several of the professions over-saturated, many boys who are today casting about to decide upon a definite life vocation would do well to consider seriously the possibilities open to them in equipping themselves as agricultural experts along one of the several lines. The greatest advance as well as the greatest wealth of the years just ahead will be made in scientific farming, and those will be sensible who equip themselves to have a hand in it.

HOT TAMALES WRAPPERS.

Now and then some very humorous items appear under the guise of sober news items. One such is a dispatch appearing recently in middle west papers stating that a new industry seems likely to be opened up for Mississippi valley farmers as a result of the demand from the state of Utah for clean, white, long, thin cornbuds for hot tamale wrappers. Most any section of land from the Twin Cities to New Orleans could furnish enough cornbuds to provide all the hot tamales that the people of Utah could consume in two or three years. Unless hot tamales take the place of oatmeal and pancakes all over the country the industry referred to will not likely take on serious proportions.

SUGAR FROM BEETS.

The beet sugar industry of the country has grown from a production of $1,729 short tons in 1895 to 700,000 short tons in 1912, the output of the last named year being 100,000 tons more than for the year 1911. The output of beet sugar for the year past was equal to one-fifth of the total consumption of sugar, and the prospects seem good, if the industry is given reasonable protection, that a still larger proportion of the total amount of sugar consumed will be produced at home. Figures compiled for the past season show that the beet sugar output was 10 per cent for any year since 1890, and the prospect for the future are that the output of cane sugar will decrease rather than increase.

BILL'S THOROUGHNESS.

There had been a bad explosion in a powder mill, according to a story told by Congressman Rucker of Colorado to a bunch of his colleagues, a few days ago, and the proprietor, who was away on a pleasure trip, hurried home to make an investigation as to the cause.

"How in the world did it happen?" he asked the foreman of the mill as he viewed the wreck. "Who was to blame?"

"Well, you see, sir," replied the foreman, "it was this way. Bill went into the mixing room, probably thinking of something else, and struck a match in mistake. He—"

"Struck a match!" exclaimed the proprietor in amazement. "I should have thought that would have been the last thing on earth he'd do!"

"It was, sir," was the calm rejoinder of the foreman.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

"Waiter, this coffee is nothing but mud."

"Yes, sir; certainly, sir. It was ground this morning."

HEART THRILLING
GEMS.

ONE THING YOU CAN'T DO.
You can laugh when trouble hits you.
You can grin when worry "gits you."
And when disappointment's near;
You can laugh when rain is falling.
If you are a cheerful soul,
But you cannot do much laughing
When the boat begins to roll.

You can bear up under sorrow,
You can calmly shoulder woe,
And perhaps no sign of anguish
Will your visage ever show;
You may hide all signs of weakness,
Though your hopes are in the ditch;
But you cannot hide your feelings
When the heart begins to pitch.

Let the cheer-up poets tell you
To preserve a cheerful face,
And to smile at all your troubles,
And to never show a trace
Of the petty griefs that fret you;
But you'll lose your self-control,
And you will not smile, I'll bet you,
When the boat begins to roll.

GROWING OLD.
A little more gray in the loosening hair
Each day as the years go by;
A little more dim the eye.
A little more faltering of the step
As we tread life's pathway o'er,
But a little nearer every day
To the ones that have gone before.

A little more hoarseness of the gait,
And a dulness of the ear;
A growing weariness of the frame
With each swift passing year.
A fading of hopes and ambitions, too,
A faltering in life's quest;
But a little nearer every day
To a sweet and peaceful rest.

A little more loneliness in life
As the dear ones pass away;
A bigger claim on the heavenly fane
With every passing day.
A little further from toll and care,
A little less way to roam;
A drawing nearer to a peaceful voyage
And a happy welcome home.

"REMEMBERING OUR HEROES."
'Neath the sod where our fathers are sleeping to-day,
Lies the relic of heroes who gave life away
For the cause of the blood-thirsty chief, who have The star-spangled banner through workmen's gore.

No longer dear soldiers can you fight
for the land,
That kept us from starvelings but now
you are dead!
Your poor bones they are moldering
where wild ravens roost,
You fought for political notions of war.

Take the cool, poor, deluded, comfort-less sleazebag,
That comes from the result of sides
and guns,
To-day you are camping where wisdom
is life,
But good Lord look down on your torn wife.

Keep on brave defenders till we meet again,
We will tell you the story of the fight and the glories That overshadowed your loved ones
from 'Frisco to Mexico, When you left in the hour of your youth and your bloom.

Now the bells and the brass together
lie down,
To cry content in their fine Wall Street home,
Then stand and they cheer for their country and flag
But the engine and machine they can't

THE LAST SALUTE.
Yes, the ranks are growing smaller,
With the coming of each May,
And the hearts and souls are sorer,
When our loved ones pass away.
When the ranks that stood the flower
Will be faded and cold,
And our story of devotion
Will forever have been told.

Years and years have passed by, dear ones,
Though it seems but yesterday
Since the blue-grayed Northern legions Marched to meet the Southern GAY,
But a day since March's eve
Made her soldier boys good bye.

North Stratford. If engines cannot haul all of their trains up at once they will have to double the hills.
No extra gangs will work on the repair of the main line this year, it is said.

This economy is supposed to be carried by the desire of the office to make a good showing at the close of the fiscal year, which ends June 30.
It is said the big engines that have been running over this division during the winter will stay through the summer, and if they do there will be no new freight engines over the road, as the big engines are able to haul so many more cars than the smaller ones.

REDUCING EXPENSES.

The Grand Trunk is inaugurating an era of economy on the division. There seem to be just as many officials as ever before, but help about the stations has been cut to the minimum. At Bangor station there have been three telegraph operators for some time and now the staff has been cut down to two, and Agent Jennings has to take the two at the key for six hours a day so that the two operators remaining on duty shall not exceed the number of men provided for by the company's rules.

The porter at West Paris, Me., to assist heavy trains up the grade, has been pulled off, likewise the porter at the station.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.
Marion (just from the telephone):
"I wanted to know if we would go to the theater with him and I said we would."

Madeline: "Who was speaking?" Marion: "Oh, grandma! I forgot to ask."

FIRE SALE.

Geological Survey Institutes Unique Procedure in Offering Its Geological Folios at One-Fifth Usual Price as Result of Fire in Survey Building.

As a result of the recent fire in the Geological Survey the Director has announced a "fire sale" of geological folios. The entire business, in which the folios were stored, was filled with dunes smoke and many of the folios were burned, others scorched, and all more or less damaged by water. With the approval of Secretary Lane, the Director announces that he will sell the entire remaining stock of some 150,000 folios, four-fifths of which are probably as near perfect as goods usually offered in a smoke or fire sale. The usual price of 5 cents each. The regular retail price of the standard folio is 25 cents, but a few unusually large folios have sold for 50 cents, and the regular price of the "fold edition" of the later folios, a more convenient form for use in the field is 20 cents.

All these are now to be had at 5 cents each, but no wholesale rates applies to this fire sale.
Now is the time for students, engineers, and the public generally to order geological folios to complete their files or to become acquainted with this Government publication, the 158 numbers of which fully describe the geology of some 175,000 square miles of the United States. The stock includes probably 50,000 to 70,000 copies on which the real damage is practically negligible. Application should be made to the Director, U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., and remittance made by money order or in coin.
Folios will be sent on application.

QUICK LEARNERS.

Mr. Young: "My little girl is nearly two years old, and hasn't learned to talk yet."
Mr. Peck: "Don't let that worry
you. My wife says she didn't learn to talk until she was nearly three, and now—"
But Mr. Peck's voice at this point was choked with sobbing.—Gray Heron.

THE KIND OF A HORSE

No more timely or important could be considered gathering of farmers than of a Horse to Raise. This discussed by Professor Rufus Duncan morning in the Farm Course, Orono, to an interest of Maine farmers. Professor is an authority on the lecture, the substance of which will be found interesting.

One of the most urgent Maine farms today is more kind of horses. We need them to do more business, to do it at the right time. The is a limit to the possible pro-

The time may come when counties.

With our short seasons,
very limited time for get-
